COMPREHENSIVE EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT BEGINS OLYMPIC ASSIGNMENTS

This issue of "In Case of Emergency..." is a condensed version due to CEM employees beginning their games-time roles. Look for updates in the March issue. It will have a recap of the events from the games.

OLYMPIC PINS FOR SALE

The games are now here! So be sure to get your "collector" CEM Olympic pins. You will need them for trading. There were only 2002 created of the "Utah Disaster" pin, so act now. Be the first on your block to own one. Trade them with your friends. Great for parties. Only $6.00 each: two for $12.00 for the "Utah Disaster."

Also, as an added bonus, if you call now, we will also sell our newly released set of CEM tie tacks! These tacks commemorate the Emergency Management and Homeland Security Olympic uniforms.

They are a replication of the patches found on the sleeves of CEM jackets along with the Emergency Management Olympic badge. And remember, the Utah office of Homeland Security was one of the first established and operational offices in the country. The set of three sells for $18.00. Hurry and purchase because the Homeland Security and Emergency Management tacks are a limited edition: only 1000 were created. Call now: 538-3400. Operators are standing by.
